Ouch!

We'll bet you don't want to end up like the Massachusetts Ear Group who has to pay $1.5 million to resolve HIPAA regulation charges.

Unfortunately, this is yet another reminder for practices, providers, clearinghouses and business associates of the necessity of proper steps to secure electronic protected health information and protect themselves by complying fully with HIPAA regulations.

HIPAA Heats Up

OCR (Office of Civil Rights) is now posting on their website names and specific information on Health Providers and other HIPAA covered entities, reporting "breaches" of unsecured protected health information (UPHI) under new rules added by the HITECH Act.

It is believed the posting of breach information for the public will heighten enforcement and public sensitivities about medical privacy safeguards.

May is Mental Health Month

"During National Mental Health Awareness Month [May], we recognize those Americans who live with mental illness and substance use disorders, and we pledge solidarity with their families who need our support as well.

Together, we can help everyone get the support they need to recover as they continue along the journey to get well." - President Obama
